THE BEST FAMILY MEDICINE
She Has Ever Known. Words of Praise from a New York Lady for AYER'S PILLS

"I would like to add my testimony to that of others who have used Ayer's Pills, and to say that I have taken them for many years, and always derived the best results from their use. For stomach and liver troubles, and for the cure of headache caused by these derangements, Ayer's Pills cannot be equaled.

When my friends ask me what is the best remedy for disorders of the stomach, liver, or bowels, my invariable answer is, Ayer's Pills. Taken in season, they will break up a cold, prevent la grippe, check fever, and regulate the digestive organs. They are easy to take, and are, indeed, the best all-round family medicine I have ever known."—Mrs. MAY JOHNSON, 368 Rider Avenue, New York City.

BOHEMIA.

I'd rather live in Bohemia
Than in any other land.—John Boyle O'Reilly.

Where lieth the land Bohemia?
Is it enchanted ground?
Unto the place no guide or trace
Was e'er by searching found.
Yet many wander through it
In blindness or in scorn,
And some there dwell who love it well;
They are Bohemians born.

Here lieth the land Bohemia!
Strange light upon it beams,
This border land, whose outer strand
Melts in the sea of dreams.
Behind us roars the real,
The world of strife and din;
Our kindlier fate is here to wait
Until our ships come in.

O'ershadowing Bohemia,
Fame, like a mountain grand,
Piercing the skies, uplifts our eyes
From this, the lotos land.
The summit gleams in splendor
And beckons spirits bold—
Fain would we go, yet, ah! we know
The heights of fame are cold.

Here, resting in Bohemia,
Beside the waters still,
In meadows green, where Hippocrene
Winds as a little rill,
We deem in pleasant places
Are cast our lines and lives,
Where grace and heart are more than art
And chivalry survives.
—Henry Tyrrell in New York Sun.

ENGLISH CHILDREN.

The Manner In Which They Are Allowed to Cadge For Money.

Every American man must remember the shock of surprise with which he first encountered in an English novel the notion of a schoolboy, a gentleman's son, taking money as a gift from his parents' friends and guests. Nothing could have been more foreign to the American idea in my time than that, and I suppose it is still the same. Neither parents nor boys could have submitted to the thought without mortification. But here the feeling, or at least the fact, is quite different. A hard working man who lives up to the last penny of a meager professional income can give a half sovereign tip to the schoolboy son of a friend or acquaintance of his who has $20,000 a year, and the boy will pocket it, and the father will, at the most, look the other way. I used to think that this had its explanation in the fact that parents and children were not united by so close a bond here as in America, and that the father cared less than any American father would care for the dignity and self respect of his son. On the other hand, however, it is certain that the English father holds himself responsible for his son and spends money solicitously in trying to start him in life long past the stage when an American youth would be expected to go out and shift for himself. And, indeed, the older one gets the plainer it is to be seen that any and every attempt to dogmatize about the difference between the two peoples of the two countries must be subject to all sorts of reservations and contradicting modifications. But it is true that the English child is allowed to cadge for money in a way which is unknown to the American child of the same social grade, and that this is by no means confined to relatively poor people. This fact has always seemed to me to rob the English child of a great deal of the interest which with us attaches to childhood. Not I alone find him less interesting, it is a universal judgment upon him.—Harold Frederic in New York Times.

Jolly General Robeson.

The Philadelphia Record says: "Although 76 years have bowed the frame and silvered the hair of General Robeson, the ex-secretary of the navy, it has not dimmed the old man's intellect or blunted his appreciation of a joke. The general, who was in the city recently on legal business, told many laughable stories of the memorable campaigns in which he had taken part. Like all old people who are fond of reminiscencing, he is firmly of the opinion that in his day the women were prettier than now, the men braver and brainier and the humorists more brilliant. 'Why,' said he, 'do you remember how they used to soak me in the comic papers? They laid great stress upon the fact that I was not a fit appointment for secretary of the navy because I knew nothing about shipbuilding. One of the funniest pictures I ever saw was on this subject. The caption of the picture was "His First Visit," and it represented me on the deck of a warship peering down a hatchway. Underneath the picture was a line which quoted me as saying, "Why, the d——d thing is hollow, ain't it?"' At the remembrance of it the general laughed until his huge frame shook."

Loneliness of Arctic Icefields.

On these inland hunting trips an ominous silence reigned. We were then having alternate day and night, and the spirit of the approaching months of darkness seemed to hold the day in thrall. The weird desolation and loneliness of the great peaks, the interminable ice caps, lustrous and cold under the gray waste of cloud, the wide, mossy stretches, thickset with irregular bowlders of many hues and thickly starred with white, pink, purple and yellow flowers, the absence of life, the windless hush—all these wove a web of awe about one's mental perceptions and made the world in which we walked seem a part of strange dreams.—Frank Wilbert Stokes in Century.

Unlucky.

There is an ancient jest in Paris which originated with a waiter at the famous Tortoni's. A guest had ordered a dozen of oysters. "Only one dozen?" asked the waiter. "Yes, that will be enough." "You are not superstitious, then," said the waiter, with a curious smile. "Why?" "Because you are not afraid of being 13 at a table."

Adversity has been considered as the state in which a man most easily becomes acquainted with himself, particularly being free from flatterers.—Johnson.

Earls take precedence of the younger sons of dukes of the blood royal.

WHAT BICYCLES MIGHT DO.

The Many Adaptations of a Wonderful Genius.

"Well, Jabez, what is the matter? You seem absorbed."

"Lemme alone. I'm inventin."

"Doing what?"

"Inventin, I tell you. Got the artist's wheel down fine. His palette is in front, his easel's behind, and all his paints on the cranks—they keep better mixed that way—and he just wraps his canvas around the upper bar of the frame. See? And I haven't forgotten his umbrella."

"Is that all?"

"No. I had to give a power of thought to a wheel for a double bass—kind of unwieldly thing. Got over it by making the double bass man straddle his instrument. Trombones, ophicleides and kettledrums just pack away like boxes in a nest, and Sousa's only got to say a word and my fortune's made in musical wheels."

"Anything else?"

"There's the literary wheel—got the points from a Brooklyn librarian. The book or the magazine is held in place just this side of the ram's horn, and there is an automatic concern that turns over the leaves at the exact time. With that arrangement the publishers will have no further reason to complain that books are now a drug on the market. Then there is the sportsman's wheel. He slings his double barrel right under him, and there's a rest if he's a pot hunter, and a place for 50 rounds of ammunition, and a crib for a pointer or setter, as the case may be, and a game bag and a basket for holding dog biscuit for a week.

A little variation in the sportsman's bike and you have the angler's rig, down to his green painted hamper with the bait in it. The drummer's wheel took a lot of sabe. I don't care what kind of samples the man carries—teapots or pig iron—it's all arranged for. Don't ask me any more questions, for I'm on the milkmaid's wheel now. You couldn't catch on, I am afraid, not being of an ingenious turn of mind. Well, it's about this, and don't you give me away: She just scorches around her cows, and the milking stool is adjustable. A patent attachment to a cycloidal sprocket works the exhaust and strips the last drop from the cow's udder. Then, when the tin bucket that the chain carries along is filled, all she has to do is to zip around to another cow, and that works the churner, and so by the time she is through with the very last Sukie there is your butter, and the cyclometer tells you how much butter you have to a pound. I'm working out a refrigerating principle now as a part of that wheel so as to keep the butter cool and fresh. That wheel is going to break the co-operative dairy business. Don't ask me no more silly questions. See?"—New York Times.

Former Slave Market, Constantinople.

On benches so placed as to command a good view were the buyers, coarse looking Turks, whose calm, searching gaze seemed to take in every detail. The merchant conducting the sale stood before them, talking and gesticulating with great vehemence. He turned to one of the pens, which was filled with young Circassian women, most of whom were very handsome. They were seated close together on the ground in an attitude of listless despondency, their white garments flowing around them, and, as they gazed up at me with their sad, dark eyes, I felt painfully how they must envy the free and happy stranger who came to look on them in their infamy and misery.

The slave trader came forward, followed by a phlegmatic looking Turk, and, seizing one of the women by the arm, forced her to stand up before this man, who, it appeared, wished to buy her. He proceeded to inspect her, very much in the same manner as he might have examined a horse or a dog, and his decision was unfavorable. He turned away with a contemptuous movement of the head, and the slave merchant, in a rage, thrust back the unfortunate girl, who sank down trembling among her companions in captivity. This scene was as much as we could stand, and we left the place hurriedly at once. It is well indeed that such sights can be witnessed no more, at least in Europe.—Blackwood's Magazine.

Blackburn and Blair.

They tell a good story in Washington on Joe Blackburn. He had an exciting argument in a senatorial cloakroom at Washington several years ago as to the relative value of brandy and whisky as man's greatest boon. In the midst of the argument the stoical prohibition Senator Blair of New Hampshire entered the room. Forgetting the well known total abstinence tendencies of the New Englander, Senator Blackburn appealed to him to settle the dispute. "I do not know the difference between whisky and brandy," replied Senator Blair, with a face as passive as a Japanese doll. After Blair had departed Blackburn's eyes actually moistened with sympathy as he shook his head sadly and said: "Poor old man! His stomach must be in awful shape."—New York Tribune.

Ducks and Drakes.

A man who wrote to Forest and Stream awhile ago said that 80 per cent of the ducks he had killed were drakes—four drakes to one female—and he wanted to know the reason why. Others promptly said they had observed similar preponderance of drakes, and also wanted to know why. One man told how he had seen one female duck chased by four or five males. He had killed 45 in a spring day's shooting, and of them only 9 were females.

Thus far no explanation has been given of the matter.

Diagnosis.

"Uncle Dick, what's a delusion?"

"Well, Bobby, it is thinking your expenses next month will not be as heavy as they are this month."—Detroit Free Press.

CRUDITY IN EUROPEAN ART.

Americans Have Satisfied the Hunger For a New Creation.

Is there no art in Morse's telegraph, in Fulton's steamboat or Colt's revolver or in an American cultivator, but only in a morbid projection upon canvas of Dante's insane portraitures of a supposed but impossible torture of lost souls in hell or the ever recurring monks of the wine cellar lewdly gibing the waiter girls that bring them their inebriating cups? Two-thirds of all the so called art of Europe consists of pictures that are both deniable and untrue, designed to commemorate events that never occurred or to preserve our reverence for ideas which the human mind no longer seriously entertained. American art must be the embodiment of American ideals and not the reflex of mediæval ideals which no longer command the sincere respect of even the European mind. The art of Europe is as crude in its way as that of America, because it does not relate to ideas that are now or ever again can be potential over the human mind.

The most powerful and artistic fiction of modern times, perhaps of any period, whether judged by the extent to which it has been read, dramatized, acted, imitated and translated or by the depth of its revolutionary effects on society, is "Uncle Tom's Cabin." It drew much of its power from the hunger the world felt for a new art that should be American. Irving wrote volumes on England, Spain, Mohammedan histories, etc., all of which are passing into waste paper because they have not the originality of true art, while his name lives only in that small portion of his work whose theme was American—viz, the legend of Sleepy Hollow, Rip Van Winkle and Diedrich Knickerbocker. Humboldt showed that travel and observation were fine arts, and that the best field for their practice lay in America. Audubon lifted the study of birds into a fine art and found no field necessary to its practice but America. Lowell, Mark Twain and Bret Harte have lifted American humor into an art so fine that the European world itself is inquiring whether all real humor is not exclusively an American art.—Gunton's Magazine.

DARKNESS SEEMED FAMILIAR.

Young Woman Did Not Notice That the Light Had Gone Out.

They were on a tandem, and a straight, smooth road stretched away before them through the park for a mile or more. There was darkness all about—thick, impenetrable darkness—which lay heavy among the trees and betrayed the fact that the authorities had neglected the electric lights, counting on a moon that had failed to keep her engagements.

But they did not mind the darkness. In fact, they rather sought out the more shadowy portions. For there is something about a tandem, if it steers easily, which softens the iron bound laws of custom. The riders are so close together anyway. And if the one on the rear seat leans slightly forward and the one on the front seat leans just a little back, there is no need to sigh for the best of hammocks.

The young man on the rear seat had leaned slightly forward. Moreover, the young woman on the front seat had leaned just a little back. And there was more on the young woman's lips than microbes.

Suddenly they were arrested by a shout—it is said that park policemen never arrest any one in any other way—a deep, full bodied shout that boded ill.

"Hi! You! Where's your lamp?"

They stopped and dismounted. With a burly policeman in the road there was nothing else to do.

"Where's your lamp?" the officer demanded.

They examined the front of the wheel together. The lantern had gone out.

"Why," said the young woman, "why, I never noticed that it wasn't lit. I—I must have imagined that we were in the parlor at home."—Chicago Tribune.

Care of Blistered Feet.

Blisters on the feet, which are necessarily very painful, should be bathed on going to bed with strong salt water, to which, if they are very tender, it is an excellent thing to add just a very little vinegar and fine pounded alum.

People who suffer very much in this way will always do well to wear rather thick soled boots, having them especially made, as it is most important for any one who has very tender feet that the boots should be perfectly fitting. Into these boots a pair of lamb's wool socks should be placed, and these socks should be thickly spread over with soft soap on the inside of the foot of the sock.

If the blisters come up very high, it is wise to let out the accumulated fluid by running a darning needle through the upper surface of the blister. If it is allowed to break the surface of the skin, it is apt to become very sore, sometimes being very difficult to heal.—New York Advertiser.

From the Irish.

First Citizen—I beg your pardon, sir, but I am a stranger in Dublin. Can you direct me to Grafton street?

Second ditto—With pleasure. Sure, it's the second turn to the right.

First ditto—Thank you, sir. (Walks off.)

Second ditto (calling after him)—Hi! If you're a left handed man it's the other way entirely.—London Globe.

Our Oldest Fireplace.

Perhaps the oldest fireplace in this country is in the home of a Bangor man. The fireplace was built over 200 years ago, in West Boxford, Mass., and it is set up in the house perfect and standing, with the same kettle, tongs, etc., as it was 200 years ago.

Trajan, the Roman emperor, had a palace built under the waters of Lake Nemi. It was 500 feet long, 270 feet wide and 60 feet high. The building was made accessible by an arched tunnel leading to it from the shore.

INDEX-TRIBUNE

SONOMA, OCTOBER 3, 1896.

H. H. GRANICE - - - - - - - - - - EDITOR.

Judge Crawford served the people faithfully and well as Superior Judge. He took a nomination six years ago when Albert G. Burnett refused to go into the fight, but he was rewarded in a queer fashion at the Sebastopol convention.—Healdsburg Enterprise.

WE can't see why Judge Crawford or his friends should complain of his treatment by the Republicans of this county, and we don't think they are complaing, either. Six years ago Mr. Burnett had no political aspirations and as a consequence Mr. Crawford, who was a comparative stranger to the people of Sonoma county, was nominated and elected a Superior Judge by the Republicans. As for the "queer" fashion of rewarding Judge Crawford, few people would object to being similarly rewarded. Judgship honors and a salary of $24,000 cannot be picked up by every new-comer to this county. We agree with our esteemed Democratic contemporary that Judge Crawford served the people faithfully and well during his six years in office.

JUDGE DOUGHERTY,

Hon. Samuel K. Dougherty, who was placed in nomination for Superior Judge by F. Breitenbach, one of Sonoma's oldest and most respected citizens, at the recent Republican County Convention and almost unanimously chosen by the delegates, has served eight years on the Bench in this county. Judge Dougherty, during his incumbency, has won the esteem of the members of the Bar, litigants and the people of Sonoma county in general as an able, just and upright jurist. He is very popular throughout the county and especially so in Sonoma Township.

THE SUPERIOR JUDGESHIP.

One of the most popular nominations made by the Republican County Convention, which recently met at Sebastopol, was that of Hon. Albert G. Burnett for Superior Judge. He was born in Oregon, but has lived nearly all his life in this State and is a nephew of the late Peter G. Burnett, the first Governor of California after its admission into the Union on the 9th of September, 1850. Mr. Burnett has never sought office before except when urged by his friends to run for the District Attorneyship of the county six years ago, when he was elected by a handsome majority. He is well versed in the law and is in every sense qualified for Judge of the Superior Court of Sonoma county.

JOHN W. KEEGAN.

THE political card of John W. Keegan, candidate for Assemblyman from the Seventeenth District, appears in another column. Mr. Keegan is a prosperous and enterprising merchant of Santa Rosa and is one of the leading citizens of Sonoma county. He is very popular in Sonoma Township and will receive the support of the people regardless of party ties. He is unpledged as to the United States Senatorship and can be counted upon to do the right thing by his constituents.

The Tyranny of the Desk.

We will suppose that your occupation is sedentary—that you are chained, so to speak, to the desk in some counting house or perhaps to the loom in some vast mill where you are compelled to labor from morning till night. Sunday is your only day of relaxation. You return home every evening wearied mentally and bodily. Your health and strength begin to fail. What will most effectually recuperate your vital energy? The weight of evidence points to no other conclusion than that Hostetter's Stomach Bitters is your safest, most reliable sheet anchor. Use it persistently, and your system will soon regain its pristine vigor. Every function will receive a healthful impulse. There is no remedy to equal the Bitters for nervousness and want of sleep, dyspepsia, constipation and biliousness. It averts and remedies all forms of malarial disease, and is a preventive of rheumatism and neuralgia.

LOCAL HAPPENINGS.

Brevities.

The Board of Supervisors will meet next Monday in Santa Rosa.

H. Laux has had a new swinging sign erected in front of his neat saloon on Napa street.

Graining in the very latest style. Call on H. S. Gutermute, 718 Washington St., Petaluma.

Charley Cook, the well-known teamster, is lying dangerously ill with pneumonia at his residence on Spain street.

V. Bulotti, the painter, has been engaged the past few days in improving the appearance of the Garibaldi House.

Mrs. Willie Cook is lying dangerously ill at her home in San Francisco. Her mother, Mrs. M. Akers has been summoned to her bed side.

Parties having dried fruit of any kind, in small or large quantities, to sell will consult their interests by calling upon or addressing John Batto & Son, Vineyard Station.

R. M. Sims, Vice Principal of the Sonoma High School, and Vernon Goodwin, Principal of the Sonoma Grammar School, spent Saturday and Sunday in Santa Rosa.

The Home for Feeble Minded at Eldridge has 450 inmates and fifty attaches, including Superintendent Osborne and his estimable wife, who have entire charge of the institution.

The new Catholic Church bell was hung in the tower of the church, which is in course of erection, one day this week and tested. It is clear in tone and can be heard a remarkably long distance.

One of the most imposing and attractive exhibits at Mechanics' Fair is that made by Gundlach, Bondschu & Co. Miss Frauenholz, who has been rusticating at Rhine Farm this summer, also makes a very creditable display of photographs.

Rev. O. E. Hotle, pastor of the M. E. Church in this place, is attracting much attention at the Berkeley University by his deep earnestness. Thursday evening he debated in favor of Co-education before the Students' Congress and received a perfect ovation.

The nineteen-months-old baby of Mr. and Mrs. A. Pinelli died last Wednesday afternoon of nervous fever after an illness of two months. The funeral took place yesterday afternoon, the remains being interred in Mountain Cemetery.

The Rev. J. D. Foster will preach in the Congregational Church Sunday morning and evening. Mr. Foster is pastor of the churches of Kenwood and Glen Ellen. Sunday, October 11th, the Rev. H. H. Wikoff will be here and conduct the morning and evening services.

United States Bonded Warehouse Keeper Skaggs has returned to Santa Rosa after attending to the affairs of the bonded warehouse in this place the past month. Geo. W. Sparks, who has had charge of the Santa Rosa warehouse for a like period, has returned to Sonoma and resumed business at the old stand.

John B. Skinner, formerly of this place but who has been in the drug business in San Francisco the past few years, left for Yuma, Arizona, last week, where he will take charge of the largest drug store in that city. His wife accompanied him and they will go to housekeeping in their new home next week.

J. Chauvet has had ten men at work this week making grape boxes in his vineyards near Glen Ellen. In addition to the product of his own vineyards he will crush an immense amount of grapes, which he has bought in the vicinity of Santa Rosa and other places.

The attention of our readers is called to the advertisement of Mrs. Oliver, which appears in these columns. Owing to the lady's intended departure for England she offers for sale all of the household effects in her residence at Pioneer Grove. If you want a bargain in furniture, bedding, etc., don't fail to call and make your selections.

C. F. Leiding of Oakland, one of the heaviest property-owners of Sonoma, was in town several days this week. Mr. Leiding is a strong advocate for bonding the town for a municipal water works system, and when the question is submitted to the people, which will be in the course of a month or so, will be with us to work for the proposition.

H. S. Gutermute, 713 Washington street, Petaluma, makes a specialty of sign painting.

CAUGHT IN THE ACT.

A Tramp Arrested and Jailed for Stealing a Pair of Pants.

On Tuesday night last between eight and nine o'clock a tramp, who presumably was possessed of but one arm, entered the store of G. H. Hotz and "swiped" a pair of pants while the proprietor's back was turned. Pressy Smith, who is employed as a clerk in the store, detected the tramp in the act and seizing him made him drop the pants. He then threw the "hobo" out into the street. A large crowd gathered and during the excitement the thief made off. He was followed, however, by young Smith, who overtook his man on Broadway and attempted to arrest him. As he grabbed the one-armed tramp his surprise knew no bounds when he broke loose from him and striking an attitude of defense threw up a couple of "maulies" almost as big around as a soup kettle. For a few seconds young Smith had his hands full, but he finally "slogged" his man into submissiveness and landed him in jail.

On Wednesday the thief, who gave his name as Henry Kray, was taken before Judge Cheney and pleading guilty to petty larceny was sentenced to the county jail for thirty days.

Closed Up.

The Sonoma House, for the first time since it was built many years ago, is now without a tenant. Chas. Stein, who has been running the house the past two years, sold out the personal effects last week and on Tuesday left for Dixon, where he has invested in a similar venture. The house will probably be re-opened in a short time.

George Cornelius, for the past two years proprietor of the Union Meat Market, on Tuesday last sold all his effects to Henry Hartin of the Central Market and has retired from business. For several years the butcher business has been overdone in this town, there being three meat markets when there was business only for two.

Wine-Making.

Wine-making has commenced in this valley. J. Chauvet, Geo. Engler, Dresel & Co., J. Gundlach & Co., T. S. Glaister, C. Aguillon, J. E. Poppe, V. Bulotti, John Lounibos, manager of the Hearst vineyards, Mrs. Goethe, Ed. Steiger and Burgess & Dominicon will be the heaviest wine makers this season in Sonoma Valley. The price of grapes is said to be between $18 and $22.50 per ton, according to quality.

Accident.

S. A. Ringstrom and Harry Shaw, while driving into town on Wednesday afternoon last, were thrown out of a cart and severely injured. The accident was caused by the horse running away. Young Shaw had one of his legs so badly injured that he is now under the care of a doctor. Mr. Ringstrom escaped with a slight injury to his back and a few minor bruises.

The Excursion to Mechanics' Fair.

The excursion of the S. F. & N. P. Railway last Saturday to the Mechanics' Fair was a great success. Hundreds of people availed themselves of the cheap rates and the passenger coaches were crowded to their utmost capacity. One hundred and twenty-five people attended from Sonoma and its suburbs.

Far ahead of the cheap crayons. I will make you a fine large one, 14x17, only $1.50, and larger sizes in proportion. Come and see my work. E. R. Healy.

Real Estate Transfer.

Norman J. Heggie, through the real estate agency of D. H. Twing, sold this week 15 acres of land on his place adjoining Col. Hooper's line. The purchaser is S. J. Shannon of Suisun, who will improve his purchase and make it one of the handsome homes of Sonoma Valley.

For paints, glass, wall paper, artists' materials, frames, brushes, varnishes, oils, mirrors, window shades and curtain poles be sure and call on H. S. Gutermute, 713 Washington St., Petaluma. He sells everything at lowest cash rates.

BEAR FLAG CELEBRATION.

Final Report of the Committee—A Shortage Which its Members Contributed.

The Bear Flag Celebration Committee, F. T. Duhring, Chairman, wound up its affairs this week and made a final report. The statement shows that the expenses exceeded the receipts $33.28, which deficiency was donated by the committee. Owing to an absence of funds a detailed statement of receipts and disbursements cannot be advertised. From Secretary Geo. Breitenbach's report, however, we take the following footings:

Amount of bills presented	$885.83
Receipts—Cash, donations and sales	852.55
Shortage made up by Committee	$ 33.28

Democratic Rally.

There will be a Democratic rally at Union Hall next Wednesday evening, on which occasion the people of Sonoma will be addressed by F. A. Cutler, nominee for Congress and J. W. Keegan, candidate for the Assembly. E. P. Campbell will also speak on behalf of the Populists. The meeting will be held under the auspices of the Sonoma Bryan Silver Club. After the speaking there will be a social hop, in which the Blacks, Pops and Dems. are expected to participate.

City Taxes.

Taxes on all personal property and one-half of the taxes on real property in this city for the year 1896-7 will be due and payable next Monday and if not paid before the third Monday in November fifteen per cent will be added to the amount. The second installment of taxes will be payable on and after the first Monday in January and will become delinquent on the first Monday in February, when five per cent will be added. Tax-payers should cut this out and paste it in their hats.

The Silver Barbecue.

John S. Saunders, one of the leading Democrats of Analy Township, who has charge of the great silver meeting and barbecue, which will be held in Sebastopol on Thursday, October 8th, says that the people of that enterprising town are ready to receive all comers on that day. A large number of people from Sonoma Valley regardless of political affiliations expect to be present. The speakers will be Congressman J. G. Maguire, F. A. Cutler, nominee for Congress, S. I. Allard and William Craig, candidates for Electors, and Allen R. Gallaway, candidate for the Assembly in the Sixteenth District.

THE TREASURY CASE.

Sonoma County vs. P. N. Stofen and Bondsmen.

The case of Sonoma county vs. P. N. Stofen and bondsmen came up regularly in Department Two of the Superior Court Thursday.

The Supreme Court decided in the Mulligan case that robbery could be plead as a defense, and the Stofen case being a parallel one, that part of the case was eliminated from the present trial and the only point left to decide was whether it was robbery or not.

Captain Stofen was the first witness called and testified to the main facts of the robbery, also as to how his books were kept and the amount of money he had on hand on December 28th, 1894, the day of the robbery.

Mrs. F. McG. Martin testified that she was in her office during the day of the robbery, but heard no unusual noises in the Treasurer's office.

Deputy Sheriff Brophy also testified to this.

Messrs. B. M. Spencer, W. T. Mears, Ben S. Wood Jr., James Hassett, L. E. Ricksecker, E. F. Woodward and W. V. Griffith were called as witnesses. They had all been present when experiments had been made with the vault in the Treasurer's office to test how far the sounds of pounding in the vault could be heard in different parts of the court house.

After the testimony was all in the case was submitted without argument.—Santa Rosa Democrat.

WADE—SIMMONS.

Last Sunday Buena Vista Villa, the home of Mr. and Mrs. F. W. Wade, was made attractive in honor of the marriage of Mrs. Wade's niece, Miss Ella Simmons, and Albert F. Wade, nephew of F. W. Wade of this place. The interior of the house was adorned with ferns, evergreens and cut flowers. The ceremony took place in the arbor, which was decorated with choice flowers and smilax. Here a beautiful floral bell was suspended under which the bridal couple stood as Rev. O. E. Hotle, paster of the M. E. Church, pertormed the marriage ceremony. The bridal party entered the arbor to the strains of a wedding march. First came two little girls who carried baskets of flowers. The maids of honor were Miss Stella Wade and Miss Nettie Goess. Miss Wade wore a dress of white mull hand-painted over lavender silk. Miss Goess wore a gown of white muslin trimmed in yellow satin. The bride wore a handsome gown of sea-foam silk trimmed with white silk lace. She carried a bouquet of white roses. A short time was spent in offering congratulations, after which the bride and groom led the way to the dining room, where a wedding breakfast was served. Here the decorations were elaborate. Tall ferns and grasses were grouped in prominent places throughout the large room and on the mantel was banked bright flowers and ferns. On the snowy table cloth was a delicate tracery of smilax and peppery foliage. The bride's cake was made in San Francisco, appropriately ornamented, and occupied a prominent place on the table. After breakfast the bride changed her wedding gown for a gray traveling dress and the happy couple left on the afternoon train for San Francisco en route for Santa Cruz, where they will remain for about ten days. Miss Simmons, the bride, is the daughter of Mrs. G. A. Goess of Sonoma. At this wedding there were present four generations, which gave much pleasure to all. The following presents were received: Mr. and Mrs. Wade, solid silver tea set; Mrs. E. Wade, mother of the groom, and Miss Stella Wade, set of pearl handle knives, forks and silver spoons; F. Winterburn of San Francisco, solid silver sugar spoon; Mrs. Goess, mother of the bride, salt and pepper shaker; Rev. Mr. Hotle, silver napkin ring; Mrs. W. T. Robinson, set of silver plated knives; G. A. Goess, shaving set; Miss Emma Robinson, sofa cushion; Miss Nettie Goess, white silk sachet, Mrs. F. Wade, manicure and perfume set; Mrs. C. H. Robinson, oil painting; Misses Willet, fancy handkerchief box; Mrs. M. J. Haraszthy, hand-painted pitcher; Mrs. Adler, berry dish, and many other gifts. The groom's present to his bride was a beautiful gold watch and chain. Mr. and Mrs. Wade will make their future home in San Francisco, where the groom is engaged in the hardware business. Those present were T. B. Robinson, Mr. and Mrs. W. T. Robinson, Mrs. E. Wade, Miss Stella Wade, F. Winterburn, Miss E. Robinson, May Robinson, Mrs. M. J. Haraszthy, Mr. and Mrs. G. A. Goess, Mr. and Mrs. F. Wade, Rev. Mr. Hotle, Osmond Haraszthy, Jeanette Haraszthy, Miss Nettie Goess, Hazel Goess, Walter Robinson, Fred Goess, George Goess, T. Ejeheben and T. Adams.

COUNTRY AIR PROMOTES LONG LIFE.

Breathing an Atmosphere of Purity Wards Off Deadly Disease.

The loss of pure air, sunshine and other "free" goods and their effect on the physique of city dwellers are not adequately compensated by hygienic reforms of town life itself, while the increased number and complexity of sensations impose a greater strain upon the nervous system. The nervous degeneration which thus accrues may perhaps be checked in time by further hygienic improvement of the town and by a gradual readjustment between the nervous system and its changed environment. But meantime grave physical injuries arise directly from those very economic changes which have raised the economic condition of the great mass of the workers and have probably reduced the quantity of purely economic poverty. When we reflect that the physical injuries of town life, attested by tables of mortality and impaired muscular activity, fall most heavily upon the poor, we shall see grave reasons of industrial and social life are generally favorable to the physical vitality of the low paid worker or the residuum—that is to say, whether he gets any net vital advantage out of the higher rate of real wages which he obtains when he is working.

When we also bear in mind that each year a higher proportion of the workers are living in large towns, where the duration of life is about 15 per cent less than in the country, and that the age of enforced retirement from regular wage earning is, by reason of the strain of competition and the regulations of trade organizations, considerably earlier than it was formerly, and that an increased irregularity of employment is discernible in many of most trades, we may hold it doubtful whether the average worker of the lower order makes a total life wage which is any higher than he made formerly. The conclusion applied by Charles Booth to the whole body of workers that "in one way or another effective working life is ten years longer in the country than in town" has an important significance when we remember that each decennial census shows a growing proportion of workers subject to the conditions of town life.—Contemporary Review.

THIS TO PREVENT SEASICKNESS.

A New York Doctor Prescribes Mixed Peptone, Sherry and Cracked Ice.

A New York physician has originated a novel preventive for seasickness, which has the advantage of being simple and seemingly sure. At all events, it was tried with marked success upon a young woman who is always affected by the comparatively slight motion of sound steamers and railroad trains. In her case, after two doses, she was able to bear without inconvenience the rolling beyond Sandy Hook and the subsequent tossings of the voyage.

The remedy is the administration every half hour of two spoonfuls of peptone in sherry, cooled by pouring over cracked ice. The theory of this is no less interesting than the dose itself. The young doctor argues that the swallowing of frequent small quantities of predigested and slightly stimulating food produces a sedative effect upon the stomach and counteracts the jouncing brought about by the incessant and violent motion of a ship at sea.

Other doctors have quite lately invented a seasickness cure consisting of cocaine or bromides, the latter in large doses, these being given with the design of dulling the stomach, as it were, and so preventing nausea. But it cannot be learned that any actual results have been attained in this way—New York Herald.

Englishmen Who Traveled.

Where one Englishman traveled in the reigns of the first two Georges ten now go on a grand tour. "Indeed," says a contemporary writer, "to such a pitch is the spirit of traveling come in the kingdom that there is scarcely a citizen of large fortune but takes a flying view of France, Italy and Germany in a summer's excursion." Gibbon wrote from Lausanne describing the crowd of English who were already thronging the beautiful shores of Lake Leman. An interesting series of hints to "persons traveling from Britain to France" appeared in The Gentleman's Magazine for the year 1786. From them we gather that no such thing was to be had in France as ready furnished lodgings and that it was impossible to board in a "genteel family," and extremely difficult to get into "genteel company." The author adds the remark that "this keeping of good company is attended with some expense—a man must game, he must keep a carriage, and he must dress according to the fashion."—Cornhill Magazine.

Bullets That Wear Out Guns.

There is one thing which users of the new high velocity rifle of 30 caliber have to consider, and that is the effect of the copper or nickel jacket on the grooves of the rifle. A bullet that leaves the muzzle of a rifle at a velocity of 2,000 feet a second is so wearing on the rifling, especially near the muzzle, that the accuracy of even the hardest bored rifles is seriously impaired inside of 12,000 shots at the most. The lead bullets, or those but slightly hardened with a mixture of tin, do not wear the barrels to the same extent, and the barrels last far longer.—New York Sun.

ELECTRICITY AND WAR.

The Telegraph as an Agency In Preserving Peace.

In the course of his farewell speech at the dinner of the British chamber of commerce in Paris Lord Dufferin, the retiring British embassador, said:

"But whatever may be the ups and downs of the diplomatic career, every member of the service, no matter how unpromising the post he occupies, may console himself with the reflection that, if he is industrious, prudent, and, above all, single minded, the bread he casts upon the waters will not be lost, and that, perhaps, when he least expects it, his day will dawn, for, though, like everything else, the outward aspects of diplomacy have changed since the beginning of the century, never have the nations stood in greater need of the thing itself than at the present moment. What do we see around us? The whole of Europe is little better than a standing camp numbering millions of armed men, while a double row of frowning and opposing fortresses bristles along every frontier. Our harbors are stuffed, and the seas swarm with ironclad navies, to whose numbers, I am forced to admit, England has been obliged, in self defense, to add her modest quota. Even in the remotest east the passion for military expansion has displayed an unexpected development.

"In fact, thanks to the telegraph, the globe itself has become a mere bundle of nerves, and the slightest disturbance at any one point of the system sends a portentious tremor through its morbidly sensitive surface. We are told by the poets of old that when Zeus nodded the golden halls of his Olympus shook to their foundations. Today it would suffice for any one of half a dozen august personages to speak above his breath or unwittingly to raise his little finger, and, like in a heaven overcharged with electricity, the existing conditions of unstable equilibrium which sustains the European political system would be upset, and war, waged in circumstances of greater horror than has been hitherto known to the experience of mankind, might eventually envelop not Europe alone, but two—nay, all the four—continents at once, since in every one of them representatives and offshoots of the contending nations would of necessity be brought into collision.

"It is to prevent catastrophes of this kind that we meek, civil spoken and mild mannered persons have been invented. Looking at us, you will perhaps say that we are a poor and feeble folk, and that our calling is a sorry preservative against such dangers; but, such as it is, it is the best device that human ingenuity has been able to discover. After all, a very thin wire proves a perfectly effective lightning conductor, and for over 80 years, thanks to this unpretending agency, an unbroken peace has been maintained between your native land and the country with whose prosperity and welfare your own interests are so closely associated."

Unhappy Austria.

The cruel humiliation Austria suffered in Italy was followed by the crushing blow at Sadowa and the not less painful collapse of a brother's ambitions in Mexico. If the dignity of a Cæsar was to be saved for the Hapsburgs out of the wreck, it seemed most likely to be achieved on the lines suggested by Count Beust. The choice once made, it was impossible to turn back. What is given as a boon to distressed nationalities in the name of progress cannot afterward be withdrawn on the plea of prudence. The result is pathetic, but there is no help for it.

We see Croats, Ruthenians, Poles, Servians, Wallachs and the rest of the half barbarous hordes cutting one another's throats when they are not combining to insult the civilized Hungarians and Germans, whose fate it is to be their neighbors. We see Vienna itself in the hands of a fanatical anti-Semitic rabble, and we see the power of the only capable parliamentary party in Austria broken by hopeless dissensions. Truly the domestic state of the empire is nothing less than pitiable. Its influence in Europe is also a thing of the past. The Balkan states, which were its props in the south, have publicly gone over to Russia, and its solitary remaining protection against dismemberment is the alliance with Italy, which covets Dalmatia, and with Germany, which is moving heaven and earth to establish secret relations with Russia.—Saturday Review.

Matrimony and Patience.

Matrimony and patience! It is not always a perfect combination, is it?

In South Africa the savage tribes have a peculiar ceremony which they put the matrimonial candidate through previous to his entering the holy state. His hands are tied up in a bag containing five ants for two hours. If he bears unmoved the tortures of their stings he is considered qualified to cope with the nagging and daily jar and fret of married life. Such a man would make an admirable husband. He would not be upset by the thoughts of a spring bonnet or grow irritable every time the steak was overdone. The idea of having a patience trial for those about to marry is one that civilized people might adopt.

Two Archbishops.

The archbishop of Canterbury is primate of all England, and therefore takes precedence of the archbishop of York, who is only "primate of England." This very nice distinction was made several centuries ago on account of a very bitter dispute arising between the two functionaries as to which should precede the other. The matter was settled by conferring precedence upon the archbishop of Canterbury, the two titles being also bestowed at the same time.
